Serving the local community in the name of Christ since 1859

20th January 2017

Good afternoon St. Clement's,

Time has flown by and the Christmas holidays seem a distant memory. It's hard to believe it's the end of the third week of term already.

The children are all working hard and a walk around the school reveals the engaging starts they have made to their new term topics. Already this term, poor Mr Burton has been mummified in Year 5, children have examined skeletons to learn about Anglo-Saxons in Year 4 and Year 1 have made paper boats and sea creatures to turn their classroom into a pirate ship. I am sure there are many more exciting activities planned for the rest of the term, so keep reading the newsletter and blog to find out what we're up to.

Have a good weekend and stay wrapped up.

Year 4 Trip to BMAG

On Thursday Year 4 visited the Birmingham Museum and Art Gallery to find out more about the Anglo-Saxons. When we first arrived, we headed to the Anglo-Saxon gallery to try and solve the mystery of the Staffordshire Hoard. We used our activity pack to identify mystery artefacts and answer questions about what they might be. We also learnt how Anglo-Saxons relaxed by dressing up in their clothes and heading to the Mead Hall to play games.

After this, we headed to the education room to take part in a history workshop. We became archaeologists and excavated artefacts from the sand to find out more.

It was a great day and we will soon be producing some fantastic writing and art work linked to our trip.

Breakfast Club on itv NEWS

This week if you were lucky enough (or remembered to set the TV to record) you will have seen our Breakfast Club on the 6 o'clock news on Tuesday.

It was very exciting to watch and lovely to hear the nice things that Wesley Smith, the Parents, Children and Mr Burton had to say about the benefits of Breakfast Clubs.

If you happened to miss us you can find out more by visiting the itv page at ...
